Dear 2020 Presidential Candidates -

As faith leaders of diverse traditions from across the United States, we have been organizing, responding, and offering pastoral care to the members of our congregations and communities that have been under direct attack by repressive immigration policies and harmful rhetoric. Our shared faith values of recognizing the dignity of all, family, community and compassion inspire this work and compel us to reach out to you.

Our country is crying out for bold moral leadership that can move us into a future where all of our siblings feel full belonging in our country. Too often, hatred and xenophobia are at the center of the current public discourse about immigration policy. We expect all candidates in the 2020 presidential cycle to lay out a narrative and policy framework that recognizes the humanity and suffering of our immigrant siblings as a first step toward healing the wounds of hatred and xenophobia.

We are writing to urge you to speak out clearly and boldly in your presidential campaign on behalf of immigrants, refugees and asylum-seekers in this time of increasing fear-mongering and growing nationalism in our country. We urge you to take a moral stance as presidential candidate to unravel the immigration enforcement system and protect all immigrant families. Specifically, we are asking all candidates:

• Push back on the anti-immigrant rhetoric which demonizes and divides. Remind the American people that we are a nation of immigrants which has always benefited from the talents, contributions and hard work of migrants and refugees. Challenge us to remember that compassion and solidarity have always made America stronger, while fear and division only serve to weaken us as a people. Help us to imagine a stronger, brighter future – together.

• Cut funding for immigration enforcement (including additional detention beds, more agents and increased border militarization) within the FY 2020 budget and all future budgets. Reinvest savings into programs that will strengthen family and community life for everyone.

• Lay out a plan to use existing executive branch resources and authorities to reduce deportation and immigration enforcement while seeking federal immigration reform that will provide a path to citizenship for the millions of immigrants who are already part of the fabric of our communities and addresses the need for a regional response to the underlying poverty and violence that are driving the exodus of asylum-seekers from Central America.

We believe moral leadership on immigration requires the points outlined above as a centerpiece of your campaign, and call on all candidates to deliver a major speech on your immigration platform. We believe that, by leading from a place of love and compassion, you can help begin to heal the wounds of racism and xenophobia which have diminished us all.

Thank you for your public service and for considering this appeal.
